

CONTENTS

Editors note	7-8
MÁDLY L. LORÁND, Constitutional Reforms and National Movements in the Eve of Dualism	9-22
ENACHE TUȘA The role of the 1923 Constitution in the modernization of Romania. A sociological analysis	23-41
GABRIEL-VIRGIL RUSU, Romanians from the provinces united with the Motherland and the Constituion of Reunification (1923)	43-53
MIHAI HANDARIC, The 1923 Constitution and the context of neo-Protestant cults in Romania	55-82
CORNELIU PINTILESCU The danger of revolution, the state of siege and the debates regarding the constitutionality of these „exceptional” measures in interwar Romania	83-97
SALÁNKI ZÓLTÁN, Constitutionalism, education and educational rights after 1923 – the path of Romania's modernization. Case study: the Hungarian minority	99-112
OTTMAR TRAȘCĂ, The evolution of Romanian-German relations from the removal of Nicolae Titulescu from the head of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (August 1936) until the Constitution’s promulgation on February 20, 1938	113-180
FLORIN MÜLLER Royal dictatorship (February 1938 – September 1940) – historical and legal profile	181-188
HADRIAN GORUN, The Romanian Constitution of 1991: Between Remnants of Communist Totalitarianism and the New Democratic Order	189-198